

Dragon's Breath

Set The World On Fire

Dragons breath,
a legend in time Feared by peasants
and knights of all kind

Campaigns were launched and battles waged
But the land's greatest kingdoms
still fell ablaze

Hope was fleeting,
the land all but lost Lives were fading,
they could not endure the cost

A council was called,
grim words spoken there A final plan hatched
in that desperate air

Men of sword, science and faith,
did all band together
And with courage aplenty encased the beast forever

Strange alchemies they used to distill the beast's heart
And from father to son, passed down this great art

Now captured and bottled for all to desire Drink the beast's breath,
set the world on fire!
